PRESIDENT'S MINUTE

Our season is in fifth gear right now with one more "up shift" to go this year. My only fear is that, if the state of Illinois finds out how much fun we are having, they would declare it illegal or try to tax it. So...let's keep the renewed depth of camaraderie and unbridled joy to ourselves....

We recently tested and confirmed our skills, our safety program, our road captain program and our perseverance on the 3d Annual Aunt Millie's Ride. As the weather turned gruesome and skies became dark and threatening, our ride to Delevan, WI looked like it was in jeopardy. However, our mixture of highly skilled riders and co riders, who were well – equipped and experienced in riding in inadvertent inclement weather, combined with our road captain's (Tony Loden) weather radar GPS and ability to find "holes" through the storm, got us to Aunt Millie's wet but safe and not drenched.

This became one of those rides that will forever tag Tony as the RC who lead us into the perfect storm, or the RC who lead us out of the perfect storm, depending on how wet you got. It will also be one of those rides that will live in memory far longer than the sunny, scenic, "nothing really happened" kind of ride. Every now and then...a challenging ride like this really becomes a confidence builder.....

In the next few months, our bylaw revision project should be complete and we will be updating you on the improvements reflected in our revised bylaws that will provide for more member participation, better planning stability, officer and director prerequisites, progressive membership status, and a refined election process. The end result will be more stability in Board positions with improved continuity in management, an active membership base,

Cornering: Give Yourself a Brake

By: Dennis P. "Wombat" Dougherty

"In single vehicle motorcycle accidents, motorcycle rider error was present as the accident precipitating factor in about two-thirds of the cases, with the typical error being a slide-out and fall due to over-braking or running wide on a curve due to excess speed or under-cornering."- The Hurt Report on Motorcycle Accidents

We all appreciate the thrill and zen of being one with your motorcycle as you are gracefully gliding through the twisties on a gorgeous day. When all goes well and everything is under control it doesn't get much better. However surprises can occur, especially in blind turns when you can't see what's on the other side. You need to be in total control of your steed when entering a turn and prepared to execute safe 'emergency' maneuvers if nature, the environment, or some other vehicle 'throws you a curve'.

The plain and simple fact is that proper cornering technique is a learned skill that requires practice...lots of practice...to get it right. There is a lot of physics going on in a cornering situation that is very different from straight and level riding. The impact of speed, turning radius, incline, and unforeseen obstacles amplify the need for careful pre-planning, anticipation, and precision execution to make it truly safe.

On the street, your goal is to maximize traction at all times. This gives you traction 'reserve' to react to surprises. Cornering uses traction. Braking uses traction. So, using both uses unnecessary traction. Ideally, a smart street rider would not brake in a turn unless it was absolutely necessary, i.e. some surprise debris or animal in the road or something that would require you to slow down. Tires only offer so much traction. Being leaned over in a turn and suddenly braking could indeed cause the front wheel to lock and the rider to lose control. So the best strategy is to get all your braking done before the turn and smoothly roll on the throttle to help manage traction all the way through the turn.

. Cornering Technique

Different techniques and braking strategies are recommended for cornering when on the road or on the track. This article is focused on typical and basic street riding and cornering while underway.

The MSF teaches one of the more common approaches toward proper cornering technique; SLOW, LOOK, PRESS, and ROLL for cornering without braking. It is simple and easy to remember. As you approach a turn, call it out to yourself to help keep you focused on what to do and safely navigate the curve.

SLOW - to a proper entry speed before initiating the turn. Use both brakes while upright for maximum braking effect. Avoid braking in the turn. If you need to brake in the turn, it most likely means that you didn't slow to a suitable entry speed.

Top Cats You Should Know!

Fred Creed

As told to Terri Loden

.Hello Top Cats!

This month we are going to learn a little more about one of our most vocal and memorable members. Three guesses who that might be and the first two don't count.

Yes, you were right! It's the one and only Fred Creed whose nickname in Top Cats is "Amp."

Fred is an Independent Manufacturer's Rep for building materials but his career in sales started out waaay back in 1967 when he was negotiating a purchase of a Triumph Bonneville motorcycle and the salesman was so impressed with his salesmanship skills that he offered him a job. So, he got the bike and the job in the same day! It was definitely a step up from his bartending days and communal living arrangements with the band Spanky and Our Gang and Mama Cass Elliot. If only those walls in that house could talk.

His motorcycle days ended shortly after when he met his wife Julaine and fell in love and married. He sold his bike and began his new life of matrimonial bliss which he still continues to this day.

But something happened to Fred around the year 1996. He began to feel that stirring in his soul again. That longing for the open highway on two wheels instead of four. That unsurpassable feeling of freedom that you can only get when riding a motorcycle. So he decided that it was easier to ask permission than forgiveness and asked his wife if he could buy a motorcycle again. Happily, she said yes if he agreed to wear a helmet and get insurance. He promptly went out and bought his first Honda Goldwing and has never strayed from the brand since.

His most memorable ride to date has been riding the "Tail of the Dragon" two years ago with our own Stuart Johnson and Amy Tobler and Andy Kon-siewicz. What a roller coaster ride that was he has said! It was so much fun riding 320 curves in 11 miles at night, that he got up the next morning and did it again!

He always keeps his lucky charm, a whistle, on his keychain and says it has never failed him.

When asked what one tip he would give a rookie motorcycle rider he answered: "Smile and enjoy the moment."

His license plate reads FFOG which translates to Full Figured Old Guy. I think instead it should read FFNG for Full Figured Nice Guy.

Please send your special dates so that we can remember you!

Anniversaries for June!
Kathie & Mike Bradbury
June 10th

LOOK - Prior to entering the turn, look through the turn and continue to do so as you progress through the turn. Keep your head up and eyes looking forward. Learn to read the landscape encompassing a turn. Tree lines and power lines can tell you a lot about what's coming at you, including curve radius, and exit point. Anticipate what's up ahead, plan your actions, and ride accordingly. Be prepared for surprises.

PRESS - Press the handlebars in the direction of the turn to initiate counter-steering and lean the bike to start the turn. Bikes must lean to turn. If you are going too fast, are facing a decreasing radius turn, and/or you think you are going wide, you should press and lean more into the turn to tighten up your turn. You may be surprised how far over your bike can lean, even after you hear the first grinding sounds of metal against roadbed. If this happens, don't let it surprise you and panic. It's better to trade some metal with road to keep control than to play a game of full contact 'chicken' with another vehicle or obstacle, become airborne over a cliff, or run off the road out of control.

ROLL - Roll on the throttle. Some say from the moment you initiate the turn and continue with power on throughout the turn. Others say as soon as you see your exit point, especially if it is an unfamiliar turn. Power can help increase traction, but it can also increase turning radius. If you start to roll on the throttle too early and encounter a decreasing radius turn or an assortment of obstacles in your way, then you may have to take some other action, like increasing lean angle, to successfully complete the turn without braking. In either case, power should be applied to help maintain traction and not for acceleration. Don't accelerate until you can safely negotiate your exit point.

When You Must Brake in a Turn

No matter how hard we pre-plan and execute our cornering strategy, we all brake in the corners at some point. When that happens, you can (and almost always should) apply both brakes to optimize deceleration and control.

The MSF 'recommends' that you square the bike up first, and brake in a straight line, especially in an emergency maximum braking situation. (It is something that takes practice to be good and safe at). This gives you the most tire/road contact and lessens the sideways forces on your tires. However circumstances may not allow a squared-up, straight line stop in all cases. So what do you do?

First and foremost remember that you DO NOT have as much traction when the bike is leaned over. There is generally a smaller contact patch between tire and road. Some of that traction is being used to counteract the forces pushing your bike out of the corner. Using the brakes when leaned over requires much more 'touch' than when going straight and much caution is required when doing so...once again...practice it to get good at it and be safe. Yes, use both brakes. Using the rear only, especially in a turn, is a good way to lock the rear wheel. High siding in a turn can get really ugly!

Roll off the throttle but not so much that the engine braking contributes too much to the braking force and you lock the rear wheel. I would pull in the clutch and close the throttle to give better rear brake feel/control and it makes for one less thing to think about as well.

Remember that braking in corners will make the bike stand up and want to go straight out of the corner. Be prepared to increase the pressure on your downside handlebars to increase/maintain the proper lean angle so the bike remains on your original course in the corner. It also uses up some of your available traction, so caution is needed here as well.

Also remember that you are going to have to tilt the bike back upright if you are going to come to a complete stop. This is a natural reaction for most. But get to know that feeling so you can do it in one fluid motion and not panic and drop the bike. If you don't have full control and the bike is in a lean when you come to a stop, don't injure yourself trying to right the bike. Hop off as safely as possible and deal with the scuffs and scrapes later.

Tips & Tricks for Safe Cornering

When riding in a group, take cues from riders and other vehicles in front of you. Watch what they are doing as they move through the curve ahead of you. If you are following them at the same speed and you see them brake in the turn ahead of you, it most likely means they entered the turn too fast. Use your brakes to slow down if you haven't entered the turn yet. If you have, roll off your throttle to avoid using the brakes and be prepared to increase your lean angle.

As mentioned earlier, read the road ahead. Usually Mother Nature and the DOT give you some hints about what's around the bend. Power lines, tree lines, road contours, incline, bank angle, all are indicators of what's up ahead. Learn to look for those signs, understand what they mean, and use them to plan and execute your cornering strategy.

Take an advanced riding course such as Stayin' Safe to raise your skill level in cornering. Tom Malia, Larry Scalzitti and I took the course a couple of years ago in western Wisconsin. We did over 2,000 curves in 500 miles over 2 days. We certainly came away with improved technical cornering skills related to entry and exit strategies, but more importantly we increased our knowledge of how our bikes handled during cornering and the limits of our own comfort zone with speed management.

Practice! Practice! Practice!

I can't say enough about this. The absolute WRONG time to learn about proper cornering technique is during a turn, especially a blind one, downhill, with decreasing radius, and obstacles on the road. No matter how many years you have been riding, we can all use some polishing up on our basic motorcycle handling skills... especially the ones that can go wrong quickly and hurt you. Practice good cornering technique on some familiar roads and turns. Test the limits of your handling skills of small radius turns (both slow speed and road speed), emergency braking, and obstacle avoidance during cornering on an empty parking lot. Use every turn you make as a lesson in proper cornering speed management and execution.

When in a curve, it's better to err on the side of too slow than too fast. You can't go through a turn too slow... Remember, when approaching a curve, give yourself a brake!

Ride Safe!

YOUR SOURCE FOR UPCOMING ENTERTAINMENT AND EVENTS

BY TONY LODEN

May... Oh what a month. The scheduled rides started with cold and drizzle, turned to thunderstorms and rain followed by extreme summertime warmth.

For the first time in 66 years, March was warmer than April in Chicago. And if that's not bad enough, forecasters are now predicting warm temperatures which will stretch through the duration of summer in the U.S. The summer extended forecast for June through August, calls for warmer-than-normal weather for about three-quarters of the nation. The above normal warmth is expected to be south of a line stretching from the middle of New Jersey to southern Idaho. That puts Chicago on the warm side of that line and potentially in a severe weather corridor as that line fluctuates both North and South. Looking back, last May until April of this year was the hottest 12-month period on record for the nation with records going back to 1895. This year so far has seen the hottest March, the third warmest April and the fourth warmest January and February in U.S. weather history and it was one of the least snowy years on record in the lower 48. We might call it a Backward Spring right after the Winter That Wasn't.

Looking at our events calendar, the month of June looks kind of shy for Top Cats club rides and events. Other than our annual trek to Little Sturgis in Davenport over Father's Day weekend, there's not much to report on except for the Presidents ride leaving Saturday, June 30. I sure hope that some of the Senior RC's have some tricks up their sleeve or July will not be much better. There are plenty of open weekend dates, or even dates during the week; just talk to Larry Scalzitti or myself and will make sure to get you on the calendar. We will even make the e-mail blasts look cool and professional, so don't be shy.

Speaking of rides you do not want to miss out on, the block of rooms for the Annual Little Sturgis/Davenport 3-day weekend ride have now expired but there may still be some availability by calling the Radisson Quad City Plaza Hotel at (563) 322-2200 and asking to see if they would still honor the "Top Cats" group rate checking in on Friday, June 15th. The room rate was $109 per night.

Bard also says that there are still rooms available for the Top Cats Annual ride to the 2012 Sturgis Rally scheduled to leave on Wednesday, August 1st and returning Wednesday, August 8th, 2012. Reserve your room at the Alex Johnson by calling the Hotel Alex Johnson directly at (605) 342-1210. All reservations must be guaranteed by a valid credit card. The base contract room rate for a double queen, king or executive suite is $199 per night plus applicable taxes (about 12.7%) with junior or better suites slightly higher.

Here is a look ahead to some of the upcoming events from the June and July Calendar...

Mary will continue to work on this with the members who submit regularly and will continue to work to ensure a quality product in the time frame required.

A question arose as to the reliability of those providing the Kaution Korner and Safety Tips and the board was assured of the responsible way that all Road Captains have handled their monthly submissions.

Copies of the Master Roster were passed around and updates were discussed. The master data base will be sent out tomorrow to all of the board members.

Treasurer: Stewart Johnson

There is no update from Stuart for tonight. Tax filing was questioned and will be verified with Stuart.

Past President: Mike Bradbury

No updates from the past President for tonight.

Director of Activities: Larry Scalzitti

- There are open days for trips to be planned in the next two months. There are only two multi-day rides planned for May and June, but no other single day rides.

Discussion was had on how to get the Road Captains to begin planning ahead and getting the rides going.

Director of Membership: Greg Smith

- Membership has possible new members, but no official paperwork from them as of today.
- The question was raised about keeping the sign-in sheets for the rides. Would a PDF document that could be printed out help the road captains? Mary will create one and send it out to the Road Captains Awards and Road Names will continue to be developed during the summer.

Director of Safety and Charity: Ric Case

Safety

- Road Captain Incentives are ready to be presented.
- Safety Tip / Kaution Korner quality concerns for the general meetings were addressed. Discussion centered on the idea that the tips at the meeting should be different than what is in the ROAR. The Committee will develop new ideas for short safety tips and address this with the members.

Next GRASS reminder – June 10th and the Blast will be out soon.

Charity

Status of Committee & Planning – all is good. Some bills need to be paid and Ric will address this with Stewart Johnson.

Director of Products and History: Larry Johnson

New Products Status

- Budget request was made for $710. The numbers were based in the need to go with 10's so that the logo would be covered.
  - Greg mentioned that as the sales are made, the money will be returned with very little to be 'gambled'.
  - Larry Scalzitti made a motion to approve the $710.00 for the purchase of the apparel.
- Greg Smith Seconded the motion and it was passed unanimously. We will have new merchandise for sale SOON!

History

- The pixel size is a concern with the pictures that will be put on the web and used as part of the historical site. Larry will ask Dennis to address this with the club when he does his presentation.

Procedures need to be developed so that people know how to submit pictures to the website.

Top Cats Historian

The Top Cats Board is looking for a member to become official historian for the club.

Over the next year we want to create a written and oral history of our club that we can share with existing, new, and potential members.

The club turns 15 in 2010. Many of our legacy members have or will be moving on. We want to capture their and others' stories of our humble beginnings as well as favorite tales of the road.
